

History and Art's cross - curricular project

Year 7 have been working hard in History and Art to produce a banner for the library corridor entitled “Alive Then and Now 2009.” The banner has been inspired by life in the Middle Ages.

During the day pupils began to produce Medieval lettering for the banner and artist Karen Lloyd came in to give her expert help and a modern twist to this narration of the past. Karen’s stunning tapestries helped give the girls ideas, they have all experimented with new techniques and she has kindly agreed to come back in to school to run a workshop later this term.

We will keep you informed of our progress and when complete, will display the results on the site.
